Federal judge finds Corps liable in deep hole deaths

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
A federal judge Monday ruled that the United States Corps of Engineers is responsible for eight drowning deaths in the deep hole offshore from the Gulfside Methodist Assembly Center in Waveland.

Hancock County, named by the U.S. Justice Department as a third party defendant, is exonerated of any responsibility for the deaths.

Daniel H. Thomas of Mobile, a U.S. District Court judge, issued his 16-page decision slightly more than two months following a three-day Biloxi trial.

Survivors of the eight victims are demanding almost $5 million in damages from the federal government.

Some 25 people have drowned in the underwater cavity since 1966 when a Corps dredging project created the massive oval hole about 1,500 feet offshore.

The federal government now will either appeal the decision, seek another court hearing to decide a liability reimbursement amount or agree upon a monetary settlement with the defendants.

Joe Gonzales, a Corps Mobile District attorney, Tuesday afternoon in Mobile said he had just received a telephone call regarding the judge's decision and had not yet received a written ruling.

"The final decision regarding what our next step will be rests with the Department of Justice," he stated.

Jim Lewis, a Justice department attorney in Washington, D.C. and chief defense counsel in the case, was unavailable for comment this week.

Thomas states in his findings of fact that, "The Corps of Engineers did nothing to correct the hazardous condition, although they did acknowledge that the depression was dangerous by their proposed maintenance dredging notice (for Bayou Cadet). The public notice acknowledged that the depression was created by a previous beach nourishment project and that it was a hazardous condition to anyone wading in the area."

In his conclusions of law, Thomas finds, "The Corps allowed the dredging contractor to obtain a large amount of sand from uncontrolled depths on a sandbar only 1,500 feet from the seawall on the public beach across from the Assembly and Buccaneer State Park. This dredging created a hazardous condition in the form of a depression surrounded by shallow water."

The court's finding that the Corps had control and supervision of the depression area is further supported by the Corps' own declaration that it has exclusive jurisdiction over the control of workings in the Mississippi Sound for navigation reasons," the judge reports.

Thomas determined the Corps did not initially mark the hole properly to warn swimmers and states, "...they left the beach and swimming area across from the assembly in an unreasonably and latently dangerous condition."

Regarding a hold-harmless agreement the County Board of Supervisors signed to hold and save the U.S. free from damages due to the approved work, the judge states, "...the Corps intended to transfer the responsibility of supervising the dangerous condition created by their dredging, but that the Corps by their subsequent actions which prevented Hancock County from filling in or adequately marking the depression, this responsibility cannot be found to have been actually transferred."

"The Corps repeatedly told the board that the Corps had exclusive jurisdiction over the depression since it was out in the Mississippi Sound and that no piling, riprap or other materials could be placed around or in the depression," Thomas states.

Walter Phillips and Walter Cox, both Bay St. Louis attorneys representing the county, were unavailable for comment Wednesday.

Norman Ireland, a Gulfport attorney representing survivors of five deep hole victims, Tuesday stated, "The judge's

Supreme Court upholds Chuck Depreo conviction

Charles Edward (Chuck) Depreo's 1979 conviction and life sentence in connection with the 1978 death of Janice Ladner in her residence on Joe Moran Road in Hancock County was upheld Wednesday by the Mississippi Supreme Court.

The court rejected several procedural points raised by Depreo's appeal, concluding "the record shows evidence sufficient for the jury to have found appellant guilty of murdering Mrs. Ladner."

Mrs. Ladner was shot three times with a .22 caliber pistol on the night of April 18, 1978, and afterward her home in the Kill Community was burned to the ground.

Joy Lynn Ladner, the six-year-old daughter of Mrs. Ladner, also was shot, but managed to get to a neighbor's house following the incident and survived.

A Hancock County Circuit Court jury in early 1979 found Depreo guilty of Mrs. Ladner's murder. He was sentenced to life in prison.

The defense protested admission as evidence Depreo's murder confession, made at the Naval base in Portsmouth, Va., where the young serviceman was stationed.

The defense claimed the confession was made under "subtle coercion" and without the advice of an attorney.

The high court, in an opinion written by Justice Francis Bowling, said it was convinced that Depreo had waived his right to an attorney and "the overwhelming evidence was that the confession was freely and voluntarily made."

Depreo's appeal also cited as improper the search of his father's home which turned up the murder weapon, determined to have been used in the murder.

The Supreme Court ruled that there "clearly... (was) probable cause for the issuance of a search warrant."

The court also rejected the defense's claim that the lower court erred in not hearing a "bill of exceptions" filed after the case had been appealed.

U.S. court ruling elates officials

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
Local officials are elated about a federal court decision charging the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers with responsibility for eight drowning deaths in the deep hole offshore from Waveland.

Judge Daniel H. Thomas of Mobile Monday issued a ruling which cleared Hancock County of all responsibility in the deaths.

Survivors of the eight victims are demanding almost $5 million in damages from the United States.

Hancock was named by the federal government as a third party defendant, charging Hancock with responsibility for the deaths.

Mayor John Longo of Waveland is attempting to secure a Corps permit to fill the hole.

Williams attacks garbage

By ELLIS CUEVAS
Bay St. Louis Chief of Police Douglas Williams expressed concern about the amount of broken bottles, beer cans, empty drink cartons, beer bottles and general debris all over the Municipal Parking Lot on Beach Boulevard.

Williams said, "We have had it. Bay police will be checking very close for litterers, especially from the railroad tracks to deMontuzin this weekend. There is no reason for so much trash to be grown all over the area. It is a disgrace to the City of Bay St. Louis."

Williams indicated his officers will be checking on unusual gatherings for glass containers as there is an ordinance forbidding them on the beach. "I have been receiving complaints from local merchants about the unnecessary spreading of trash on Beach Boulevard and in the Municipal Parking Lot. As you can see, these people have a legitimate gripe," Williams declared.

A bottle was thrown through the glass rear door entrance to Mauffray's Hardware Tuesday night. His business is next to the parking lot.

Bay Investigator Matt Karl said that could be an attempted burglary, you can see parts of the bottle inside the store.

The curfew will also be enforced over the weekend and on Monday and Tuesday. One beach front merchant complained to Chief Williams about the litter problems while he was surveying the Municipal Parking Lot on Wednesday morning.

Totally disabled veteran alerted for emergency duty

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Waveland resident Robert E. Moody, a 100 percent disabled veteran and retired U.S. Army sergeant with a combined total of 28 years of service in the Army and Navy recently received his orders in case of a full military mobilization.

The alert orders call for Moody to report within seven days to Fort Polk, La. "I cannot believe the military still wants me as I am now 100 percent disabled," Moody explained.

The retired sergeant said he received shrapnel in his hand, head, and shoulder during the Korean conflict and he also was injured in Vietnam. He recently had a left hip replacement at Keesler Hospital.

Moody stated, "I really think the alert orders for me are in error," and as my wife says she doesn't think it will come about."

The veteran enlisted in WWII at the age of 16 after his brother was thought to have been killed by the Japanese on Bataan and Corregidor.

It was learned at the end of World War II that his brother Sam S. Moody was a prisoner of war in Japan.

The Moody's were natives of Lind, Mass., with Robert moving to Waveland in 1977 where his wife had a summer place for many years.

Sam Moody now resides in Orlando, Fla., and was familiar with at least two of Hancock County's POW's during his imprisonment in Japan.

Robert Moody first joined the Navy and changed to the Army in 1950, as his brother was an army recruit.

He saw action in the Pacific, Korea and twice in Vietnam during his 28 years of military life.

Interim visitation slated

Bay St. Louis school district accreditation reports vanish

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
Results of State Department of Education and Southern Association of Colleges and Schools accreditation inspections conducted at Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District schools about five years ago have apparently vanished.

The voluntary inspections, undertaken at each school in the state every 10 years to determine accreditation ratings, were last conducted at Bay schools in 1976 and 1978.

But five years after each inspection a "visitation" by the accrediting committee is conducted to see if recommended improvements have been completed or if efforts to follow through with those suggestions are underway.

A visitation is scheduled for Bay schools Feb. 17, but state and local officials report recommendations from the last accreditation inspection are not available.

The Bay School Board of Trustees Monday night approved paying expenses for the visiting committee—a customary practice.

Melvin Waters, State Department of Education secondary education and accreditation supervisor, Tuesday reported all Bay schools received a double-A rating, the highest state accreditation classification.

He also noted Bay Senior and Junior High Schools are accredited by the association, but North Bay and Waveland Elementaries are not accredited by that organization.

Waters said his department did not have information regarding specific recommendations to the Bay district, but said, "Those schools did not have any deficiencies, but the visiting committee did make a great number of recommendations."

"These recommendations were what the committee thought would be helpful to the schools, but there was no breach of standards," Waters stated.

The supervisor recommended contacting the Bay school district officials for results of the last inspection.

However, when J.D. McCullough, Bay superintendent of education, was asked by The Sea Coast Echo Wednesday for the committee's recommendations, he said the information would be available that afternoon.

McCullough reported the district did not apply for southern association accreditation for the elementary schools.

"The association is against elementary sports and I think we should have it," the superintendent stated.

But later Wednesday, the superintendent said Donald Caldwell, assistant superintendent, reported the information is not available.

McCullough said the inspection findings would be available from the office of Charles Holladay, state superintendent of education.

A spokesman in Holladay's office Wednesday referred the request to Ralph Brewer, the state instruction director.

Brewer's secretary reported the information is available in Water's department. When informed that Water did not possess the information, the secretary recommended McCullough's office as the proper source of the information.

In other business at the regular board meeting in the superintendent's office at the senior high, the trustees:

—Accepted a recommendation by McCullough to hire Susan Martin as a junior high English teacher;

—Accepted the resignation of Joyce Warner, a freshman history teacher. Warner is moving to Pensacola, Fla. with her husband who has received a U.S. Navy promotion;

—Accepted a $3,298 low bid from Dillman, Inc. of Bay St. Louis for fabrication and installation of a oven hood and vent in the North Bay cafeteria. McCullough said the County Health Department recommended installation of the vent;

—Authorized an application to the State Department of Education School Bus Contingency Fund to pay for vehicle damaged in New Orleans in which a district school bus collided with an automobile. McCullough reported the car owner submitted estimates of $349 and $363 for damages to the vehicle;

—Authorized the purchase of one new school bus as recommended by McCullough; —Authorized conducted a closed "workshop" meeting with administrators at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 7 to discuss recommendations of the Educational Needs Assessment Committee;

—Authorized forming a committee by February to study child abuse as recommended by Trustee James Ginn;

—Met in executive session for 15 minutes to discuss a "personnel matter";

—Heard a report from McCullough praising the varsity football team, band, National Honor Society, the high school chorus, the junior glee club, and junior and senior high basketball teams.

Upon approval by those committees, the bills will be sent to appropriations committees in each house which will eye methods of funding the bills.

Representative J.P. Compretta of Hancock County said he feels the house bill will face the largest problem in the Appropriations Committee.

"I think most members of the Education Committee are already in favor of the bill," he said.

"I think the problem will be how to find the money."

Gov. William Winter is proposing an increase in gas and oil severance tax to support the kindergarten bill and other education improvements.

Lang noted work to support the bill is needed now, since the legislators will be preparing for the session after Christmas.

She is requesting concerned citizens everywhere to call their representatives and senators to voice support of the proposals.

Both Compretta and State Senator Martin Smith publicly support both bills.

Lang also requested citizens contact Senate education committee chairman Carl Gordon at POB 377, Okolona, Miss., 38860, or telephone 601-447-5440; and House Education Committee Chairman Robert Smith at POB 1479, Lexington, Miss. 39065, telephone number 634-9558.

VA Questions and Answers

Q. I understand that there has been a change in the Veterans Administration burial allowance benefit. Please provide an explanation of the current allowance.

A. A burial allowance was previously available to all wartime veterans. The new regulations provide an allowance of $300 payable toward the burial of only those veterans in receipt of Veterans Administration pension or disability compensation at the time of death or for those who die in VA medical facilities.

Q. Is it possible for me to pay my Veterans Administration guaranteed home loan before it becomes due?

A. Yes. A VA guaranteed loan may be partially or fully paid at any time without penalty.

Q. Are my Veterans Administration benefits subject to taxation?

A. No. Under federal law, all benefits administered by the VA are exempt from taxation.

Q. I have started school and I need a loan to cover living expenses until my Veterans Administration benefits are received. How do I apply?

A. The VA does not have a program of personal loans. However, you should contact your nearest VA benefits counselor who may be able to refer you to a state or local agency for help.

The justly famed "Daube Glace" — "dohé glaze" — of Creole cuisine may be defined simply as "Pot roast in aspic" but there's far, far more to it. It's, as my grandmother Daly used to say, "Jellied meat gone to Heaven" and I hope St. Peter sees to it that there's plenty on the table for my first Feast in Heaven.

I wish to the core she was, but she enjoyed the Creole cooking of New Orleans, and the Daube Glace, gleaming all a-shimmer, was a major specialty of the Revellion, the late supper or early breakfast that followed Midnight Mass on Christmas Eve, when we gathered at Gran's home.

Of course, Daube Glace in those days was a major effort, calling for a beef round well seasoned and cooked, along with herbs, pig's feet and or-veal knuckles — for the meat and the bones yielded the natural gelatin needed to cover the daube.

After the long simmering, the meat was cut from the bone. Some cooks liked to serve the daube whole, others liked to cut or chop the meat. In any case, the meat and liquid were combined in a mold or pan, then refrigerated overnight — and viola, the Daube Glace.

I wonder what Gran would think if she looked down as I start on my little daube glaces for Yuletide — with the shortcuts I take. She'd shake her head, and I'd shake mine right back, reminding her that she had a household staff at her command to do all the cooking and seasoning and chopping, while I in these modern do-it-yourself days have only me, myself and I!

But, I think that she'd be pleased that I still adhere so much to her rules, for even for the natural stock to commercial gelatin packets — except, of course, when I haven't any beef stock on hand!

These little morsels are excellent, not only for the holiday table, but all through the year (they even freeze well) and you can with equal success make one or two larger molds instead of the individual ones. So here's:

DAUBES GLACES
1 cup finely shredded cooked meat
2 1/2 cups strong beef stock (or 2 10 1/2 oz. cans beef consommé)
2 pkgs. unflavored gelatin
1 bunch green onions, tops included, minced
4 tablespoons finely chopped parsley
2 cloves garlic, finely chopped
3 or 4 good shakes of Tabasco

Dash of cayenne pepper
Salt and pepper to taste
In individual egg size molds, or foam plastic egg cartons, well buttered, distribute the shredded meat. Heat the broth or consommé, and dissolve the gelatin in half of it. Add the remaining broth or consommé, along with all the rest and pour into the molds. Refrigerate until firm. (Makes about five dozen tiny daubes, a treat for the cocktail tray.)

Some cooks like to further "glamorize" this with sliced stuffed green olives, placed first in the molds, but I feel that the brinniness of the olives takes away from the taste — a personal quirk of mine, I confess.

I prefer to use the strong stock, when I have cooked a pot roast or even a chuck steak, and have even cooked up soup bones for the stock, which I keep on hand in the freezer. When I have no strong stock, well cooked down, I use the consommé, even though it's a bit salty for purists' tastes, including mine. But, that's life in the kitchen!

Incidentally, you may substitute a cup of cooked chicken or ham or turkey or even tuna fish for the beef, and still come up with acceptable glaces. And, I'm thinking of experimenting with a shrimp place substituting tomato juice, cooked down, for the stock or consommé — will let you know.

Meanwhile, keep cooking for Christmas!

Wildcats place second in Panola, Tex.

The Pearl River College Wildcats defeated Jacksonville Baptist 74-60, but lost to Panola Junior College to finish second in the Panola Basketball Classic held last weekend in Panola, Texas.

Phillip Bernard 22 from New Orleans was voted the most valuable player of the tournament. Bernard finished with 26 points and seven rebounds during the first round of play and came back Saturday evening to score 18 points against Panola.

"He was very deserving of the honor," said PRC head coach Billy Holmes. "He attacked the boards and blocked out as well as I have seen all season. This award was certainly a compliment to our team."

The Wildcats opened the tournament looking very strong against Jacksonville Baptist on Friday. Before the game, Holmes said, "The cats had played Hinds Junior College in Raymond, and were on the highway all night in order to make the opening round of play."

After hanging on to a 32-32 halftime deadlock, the Wildcats fell behind by 11 early in the second half. It wasn't until late in the contest when the PRC roundballers took the lead for good and with 20 seconds remaining in the contest Pearl River went up by 3 points.

Tony Woody, Poplarville, proved to be the clutch man in the closing seconds. The freshman guard hit three of four free throws to wrap up the team's tenth win of the season.

Cashing in behind Bernard's game high 26 points were John Williams and Glen Boyd who added 12 points and Jeff Grey hit the boards for seven rebounds.

Panola Junior College proved to be too much for the Wildcats as they fell behind 38-33 at halftime, and never recovered. The 72-62 Panola victory enabled them to capture their own tournament with the Cats finishing second.

Panola, who had defeated Jones Junior College by the lopsided score of 122-71, had a little more difficulty with the Wildcats who cut the Texas base club's lead to four points with 3:00 to go in the contest.

Unfortunately for Pearl River, Panola had too much firepower and held on down the stretch to win by 10.

Bernard and Panola's Donald Johnson caught the game high honors with 19 points each. Tony Woody and John Williams aided the losing Wildcat cause with 10 points.

"I thought we really played well against Panola," said Wildcat assistant coach Ned Eades. "We played a steady ball controlled offense and had cut the lead to one point early in the second half before they exploded on us."

"It was a rough road trip for the team playing three games in a row and traveling the distance we did. Overall,

WILDCAT CAGERS—The Pearl River College 1981-82 Wildcat Basketball team is off to a fast start as they closed out the pre-Christmas schedule with an impressive 10-3 ledger. The Wildcats will be back in action January 9 when they face Jones Junior College at Jones. Members of the PRC team include, front row from left, manager Roland Pope, Columbia; Randy Smith, Petal; Jeff Grey, Poplarville; Phillip Bernard, New Orleans; John Williams, Chesapeake, La.; Mathew Bacon, Chesapeake, La.; Gary Russ, Picayune; and manager James Waite, Columbia; back row, assistant coach Ned Eades; Tony Woody, Poplarville; Vic Travis, Purvis; Ben Henry, Poplarville; Renee Brown, Lafayette, La.; Jack Hutchinson, Carriere; Glen Boyd, New Orleans; and Pearl River College head coach Billy Holmes.

To win the canoe, sports fans need only purchase an admittance ticket to a home game. The ticket is free. A drawing will be conducted at the final home game at each school. Participants must be present at the drawing to win. (Staff photo by Brent Macey)

The Screaming Eagles of Phillips Junior College of Gulfport downed Bishop State of Mobile, 80-71, in basketball action Tuesday night at Bay High.

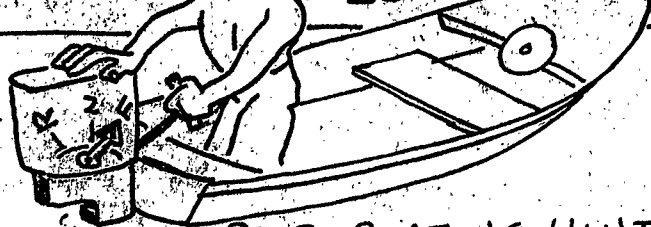

The lead changed hands a dozen or more times throughout the evening. Phillips went ahead with eight minutes in the game and held that lead until the final buzzer.

Gerald Selby was the Screaming Eagle high scorer with 27 points, 10 rebounds and three steals. Albert Wells had 20 points and eight rebounds.

Clarence Osburn scored 21 for Bishop State and Ulysses Goryor had 18.

Phillips will meet LSU Junior College of Alexandria, La., at Hancock North Central High School this Friday evening following the Hancock and Pass Christian boys' varsity high school game.

Avoid The Health Food Rip-Off
— Read The Label

Vitamins have almost become a staple to the American diet, as an industry survey reveals that by 1990, $8.75 billion will be spent annually on nutritional supplements.

That's an increase of 13.7% over 1981 levels.

The consumer should beware that such large dollar numbers will attract new vitamin products.

How do you know the good from the not-so-good? My advice is to read the label on the product.

Regardless of how the product is sold, be it in the supermarket, drug store, local health food store or marketed door to door by your neighbor; read the label for contents and potency, because the ripoff is on.

First, some of the more established brands have not incorporated the recent nutritional findings. Second, some of the newer products are in a horsepower race in potency.

For example, our modern diet is no longer deficient in Vitamin D, nor do we require biotin. Also, a formulation shouldn't combine oxidants with anti-oxidants.

Conversely, a vitamin program should offer what your diet needs today, like calcium,

By now, you've probably heard all the hoopla about Individual Retirement Accounts. But you may not realize that an IRA is a tax-break that will last you a lifetime.

Cut your taxes two ways.

IRAs have been around for a while now, but effective January 1st, sweeping new changes are enacted that make them more attractive than ever.

With the new rules, now anyone with earned income can open an IRA, whether already covered by a pension plan or not. And the annual maximums you can contribute to an IRA have changed, too. Beginning in January, individuals can contribute up to $2,000 (up to $2,250 for yourself and non-working spouse). And if both of you work, the ceiling goes up to $4,000.

Here's the best part. The full amount you contribute each year to your IRA is tax deductible. And all the money in your IRA, including interest, is tax deferred until you begin withdrawing it, when you'll likely be in a lower tax bracket.

Tax-deferred savings grow faster.

The money that stays in your IRA account that would have gone to taxes makes a dramatic difference in how your nest egg grows. For example, if you deposited $2,000 every year for the next 30 years, that $60,000 will balloon to over $380,000 based on a modest 10% annual compounded return.

Get the facts.

To find out how to get in on this monumental tax break, stop by any Hancock Bank office. We'll show you how to cut your taxes for the rest of your life, with the tax-cut of a lifetime.

Federal regulations require a substantial interest penalty for early withdrawal of IRA funds, and the IRS imposes a 10% penalty on amount withdrawn and amount must be included in taxable income.

Lott to address federal retirees

Congressman Trent Lott will be the featured speaker at a luncheon meeting of National Association of Retired Federal Employees, Gulf Breeze Chapter, President John Montgomery reports.

The event is scheduled for 11:30 a.m. Tuesday, Dec. 22, at Best Western Restaurant, US-90, Gulfport. Because of the interest of federal retirees in pending legislation, a large group is expected, Montgomery said. NARFE members and guests from all nine chapters in Congressman Lott's Fifth Congressional District are invited, he added.

Due to limited seating, tickets ($4.50) should be purchased immediately by those expecting to attend. Members may phone Montgomery at 884-3333 to secure tickets.

PRC Spring Semester schedules announced

Pearl River College's 1982 Spring semester will begin Monday, Jan. 11, with orientation and testing for all first semester freshmen and incoming transfer students. Orientation session is required for these students before they will be allowed to register at regularly scheduled times.

Also on Monday, registration for all sophomore students will begin. Doors open for registration at 8 a.m. and will continue until noon in the Academic Building.

That afternoon, freshmen, transfer and former students will begin registering from 1 p.m. until approximately 3 p.m. Registration will open again on Tuesday, Jan. 12, 8 a.m. until 2 p.m.

Classes for the Spring semester will officially begin on Wednesday, Jan. 13, at 8:15 a.m. and late registration will begin at 8:30 a.m. in the Administration Building. Students will be able to make changes in their schedule through Tuesday, Jan. 20.

"We realize that many of our students work and/or commute with other students, but unfortunately we will not be able to accommodate students who wish to register early," said Dr. Willis Lott, director of admissions at PRC.

"We will have our computer buses running during the orientation and registration sessions to help students with transportation. We will allow students to register after their scheduled times, but not prior," said Lott.

Over the next few years, the rate of death from lung cancer will be 15 times higher for women who are heavy smokers than for those who do not smoke.
